

WINTER ADULT FORUM PROGRAM
January-February, 2019

MATTER MATTERS

The unique Christian belief of incarnation becomes bigger than human beings when understood in recent discoveries about the evolution of all matter.

January 13

Through the new story of the cosmos, the union of matter and spirit can be seen and studied from the small atom to the largest planet. This view of all life enriches biblical and theological insights of our Christian faith.

Host: Sam Wiant

Facilitators: Betty Bright & Anne Miner-Pearson

January 20

Tracing the evolution of the union of matter and spirit leads to an exploration of human's place and unique contribution to all creation and how this adds to our understanding and relationship with Jesus as God incarnate.

Host: Ron Parker

Facilitators: Betty Bright & Anne Miner-Pearson

WHO AM I?

Deeper into the understanding of the incarnation is a search to discern one's true and false self. In addition to Sunday morning offerings, there will be a Saturday morning workshop on the Enneagram, an ancient spiritual tool to find one's unique spiritual path.

February 3

The arc of this spiritual journey moves from the outside, beginning with the developmental tasks of adulthood. Using the model from Richard Rohr's book, "Falling Upward", Anne will present the material for group discussion.

Host: Terry Carlson

Facilitators: Megan Emery & Anne Miner-Pearson

February 10

Often, when the "outside vessel" of life has been created, adults are faced with questions about what's "inside". This second half of life will be explored with presentation and discussion.

Host: Nancy Jewett

Facilitators: Megan Emery & Anne Miner-Pearson

February 17

The discovery of what and who lives in our core is a life-long discernment. Much of the work is to sort out what is merely “ego” and what is the true self we are created to be. Aspects of this search will be explored in this session.

Host: Sam Wiant

Facilitators: Megan Emery & Anne Miner-Pearson
